Mayor's maiden Council Meeting drowned in din

Corporators object to 10 to 15 mobile signal antenna booster poles in heritage zones

Mysuru, Dec. 8 (RKB&BCT)- The first Council Meeting chaired by Mayor Shivakumar was drowned in disturbance and loud noise as Corporators objected to over 10 to 15 mobile signal antenna booster poles — for better reach and coverage — in heritage zones. The second issue that dominated the proceedings was the pending election to the Chairpersons of various Standing Committees.

For the record, BJP's Shivakumar and Dr. G. Roopa were elected as Mayor and Deputy Mayor of the Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) respectively at the Mayoral polls held on Sept. 6. Due to din and inaudible proceedings, the meeting was adjourned twice — one up to 15 minutes and later it was adjourned till 2.30 pm so that the Corporators can have a peaceful lunch and come with new issues.

As soon as the meeting began in the presence of Deputy Mayor and MCC Commissioner G. Lakshmikantha Reddy, JD(S) Corporator SBM Manju raised the issue of mobile towers and the booster poles in heritage zones. Flashing the work order issued in 2019, he said that there has been an 'administrative lapse' as of the 72 towers (poles) permitted to be installed across the city, over 10 to 15 come under the core heritage zones.

"The permission to erect the antenna booster poles was given in 2019 for better network services. Of the 72 poles, most of them come under the heritage zone. The work order mentions that the task must be completed in 180 days. Who gave the permission? The Council was not informed about this. Which officers were behind this?" he asked.

In 2019, the Congress was ruling the MCC and Manju's direct questions irritated the Congress members who under the leadership of former Mayor Ayub Khan denied allegations of 'administrative lapse'. Instead, the Congress targeted JD(S) and BJP. This led to din and Corporators resorted to blaming one another for the mess and the whole issue took an inconclusive end as it happens in most MCC Council meetings.

Missing items from ATI Guest House take a curious turn

Four letters sent to Mysuru DC seeking info; now even the earlier three letters are missing!

Mysuru, Dec. 8 (RK&BCT)- The weird case of missing items from the Administrative Training Institute (ATI) Guest House on Lalitha Mahal Road after an IAS Officer's brief stay took a new turn this morning with a revelation that three letters were already sent to the Mysuru Deputy Commissioner (DC) seeking information about the items. The letter that was sent on Nov. 30 was the fourth one.

The fourth letter, dated 30.11.2022, was sent by S. Poovitha, Joint Director, ATI, to the present Mysuru DC Dr. K.V. Rajendra based on the direction from the Director General of ATI. The letter stated that the earlier DC of Mysuru, Rohini Sindhuri Dasari, had stayed in the Guest House of the ATI from Oct. 2 to Nov. 14, 2020.

"When the Officer vacated the Guest House on 14.11.2020, over 20 items of various types that were earlier part of the Guest House rooms were found missing," the letter stated.

Seeking clarity on the issue, Star of Mysore contacted Deputy Commissioner Dr. Rajendra this morning, who said that he has received the letter from the ATI Joint Director. "I am in receipt of the letter (the fourth one) but will have to see what follow-up action has to be taken. The DC's Official Residence on Hunsur Road does not have an inventory to verify the items entering and exiting the premises," he said.

He said that the items listed in the letter will have to be matched with the furniture and things at the DC's Residence and action will be taken accordingly. "If the items are there, we will return it to the ATI and if not, we will communicate the same," he added.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

Bunny and I are exhausted. And the reason is that we've just returned from a holiday. It's often said that when you get back from a holiday you need to take another holiday to get over the tiredness you feel after the first one. People do feel fatigued on returning from a vacation. This is because holidays are far more work than work is, and far more taxing, physically and mentally, than the day-to-day routine of getting on with the job, whatever that may be. Holidays are hard taskmasters, and demand that you make the most of them, from the moment they begin — Ready, steady, get set, go! — till when, totally breathless from the race you've run, you cross the finish line and get back home.

Holidays are like a ticking taxi meter constantly reminding you of how much they're costing you — by way of travel expenses, hotel and restaurant bills, entrance fees to museums, theme parks, and suchlike must-visit places — and how in order to justify all this expense you're got to get maximum value for your money, as big a bang as possible for your buck, no matter that all this buck-banging is taking the stuffing out of you.

What? Six in the morning and wasting costly time by lolling in bed? Get up at once and, hurry, hurry, ding, ding, get ready, gulp down a hasty breakfast, and get cracking on with doing what holiday-makers are compelled to do to ensure that they make the holiday the way a holiday is supposed to be made. The most compelling component of holiday-making is sightseeing. Likely as not, the place you've chosen for your holiday has any number of all manner of sights which insist on being seen on pain of returnee remorse.

What? You mean you went all the way there and didn't see the sunset, sunrise, temple, art gallery, whatever, that the place is famous for? Then you might as well not have gone there at all, and saved the expense of doing so, someone is bound to say. A second holiday to get over our first? No thanks. We're still suffering from holidaze.

Married speed eaters break records

Florida: A Florida couple who are both competitive eaters broke Guinness World Records for speed eating hot dogs and a burrito.

The record-keeping organisation announced Miki Sudo ate an entire burrito in 31.47 seconds, breaking the previous record by 0.88 seconds. In the same day, she broke the record for most hot dogs eaten in 1 minute, downing six to double the previous record. Sudo's husband, Nicholas Wehry ate 12 hot dogs in 3 minutes, beating the previous record of 9.

The pair, known as The Hungry Couple, met four years ago while preparing for a competitive eating event.

The couple have since married, and have a child together, but they continue to face one another in competitions.

2,040 dancers attempt salsa

Venezuela : A total 2,040 dancers gathered at the National Sports Institute in Venezuela to attempt a Guinness World Record for the largest salsa casino circle dance.

Luis Llamo, president of the international project Retomando el Son, which organized the attempt, said the dancers rehearsed for about six months before attempt in Caracas.

The 2,040 participants, dance students ranging in age from 7 to 65, salsa danced in a casino circle, a popular partner-trading formation for the dance, for 11 minutes.

Evidence from the attempt is being submitted to Guinness World Records for official recognition. The current record of 1,291 dancers was set in Spain in May 2019.

VOICE OF THE READER

An appeal to Railways

Sir,

I recently travelled to Bengaluru from Mysuru in Wodeyar SF Express (AC-C1) and my experience was pathetic. The coach has been maintained very badly and we could see so many cockroaches freely crawling near and behind the window curtains which are close to the seats.

The bathrooms, both Western and Indian, were in a horrible condition as well.

The travellers pay the AC fee, superfast express fee, etc., etc., which totals up to Rs. 400. For this amount one at least expects a basic hygiene in the coach. So I request the Railway authorities concerned to look into this problem as early as possible.

Here are a few suggestions on what can be done:

1. Take one day off in a week (as Shatabdi do) to sanitise the train. 2. Replace the dark coloured curtains (which attract cockroaches more) with lighter shades. 3. Employ a couple of cleaning staff in-house, so that the bathrooms are cleaned after every use. 4. Additionally, provide ladies quota for online booking in this train too, like Shatabdi Express.

Writers appeal for public support for Viveka Memorial in Mysuru

Dr. Prabhuprasad C.P. Krishnakumar D. Madegowda N.S. Chakravarti

Mysuru, Dec. 8- With all the hurdles cleared for Swami Vivekananda Cultural Youth Centre, several noted personalities of the city have appealed for public support for setting up of the Viveka Memorial by Sri Ramakrishna Ashram.

Veteran writers Dr. Prabhuprasad, Dr. C.P. Krishnakumar (CPK), N.S. Chakravarti and former MLC D. Madegowda, in a press release, said that Ramakrishna Mission has been rendering yeoman service to the people of the country through its spiritual, social and cultural activities. Pointing out that the Mysuru Ramakrishna Ashram has been propagating high moral values for the past 97 years of its existence, they said that it is worthwhile to note that now all legal hurdles have been cleared for the proposed construction of the Memorial in the city. The hurdles cleared are as follows:

Litigation 1- Some local elements who were opposed to the construction, had filed a petition (No.552/2022) in the Additional Civil and JMFC Court, Mysuru, on July 25, 2022, questioning the construction of Viveka Memorial. The Court, which heard the petition on Nov. 2, 2022, dismissed it on the grounds that it had no basis. The Court also imposed a penalty of Rs. 1,000 on the petitioners for unnecessarily wasting the Court's time.

Litigation 2- In the second case, one T.S. Lokesh had filed a writ petition in the High Court on July 16, 2021 (Writ Petition No. 18273/2021). The petition sought quashing of the Jan. 9, 2013 government order granting NTM School land to Ramakrishna Ashram for the construction of the proposed Viveka Memorial and also to declare that the handing over of Niranjana Mutt property to the Ashram as void.

The Court began hearings in the case and on Nov. 14, 2022, the Court said that the case stands dismissed as the petitioner withdrew the petition on his own. As such, the petitioners have lost the case, with the Court declaring that the government's decision to handover the land to Ramakrishna Ashram was justified.

The Ashram is in constant touch with all communities and has a special bonding with the seers and saints of Veerashaiva community. The Mysuru Ramakrishna Ashram has been celebrating Basava Jayanti with utmost dedication and devotion for the past 25 years. The Ashram has published many books on Sharana preachings, life and messages. This apart, the Ashram has maintained a close association with several Veerashaiva Mutts for decades.

Taking all these facts into account, the Court has given the decision against all those attempting to come in the way. This has brought cheer to all the devotees of the Ashram and members of the public, as at last, all the legal hurdles have been cleared, paving the way for the construction of Viveka Memorial.

In such a scenario, the government should ensure, that all unnecessary hurdles being posed by some elements are cleared, and hand over the entire land given by the government to the Ashram.

Continuing, they said that the land for the Viveka Memorial, which got government sanction in 2013, has undergone unnecessary delay due to litigations and it is high time for the government to ensure that there is no further delay, at a time when the country is celebrating the 75th year of Independence.

The government should now clear the way for the construction of the Memorial, which is being built in his name and delay always leads to cost escalation.

Thanking the government for enabling partial construction of the Memorial, they said that the government should also make all efforts to ensure that the Memorial comes up on a full scale by facilitating the Ashram to take physical possession of full area of the land handed over to it by the government.

They further urged all the communities to understand the reality and join hands with the Ashram for the construction of the historic Viveka Memorial, which will hugely help in uniting the society.

Hundreds attend 'Puthari' festival at Kodava Samaja

Mysuru, Dec. 8 - Mysuru Kodava Samaja celebrated Puthari-2022, the harvest festival of Kodagu, in traditional fervour and gaiety at the Samaja premises in Vijayanagar here last evening.

Hundreds of members of the Samaja, wearing Kodava attire, attended the celebrations. Kodava men and women presented traditional dances on the occasion which won the applause of all those present.

In the previous years, the festival used to be celebrated at Sree Cauvery School premises in Kuvempunagar. But this year the celebrations were held in the Samaja premises itself and arrangements were made to distribute kadh (new paddy crop) to all the members by the Samaja volunteers.

The festival marks bringing home the new paddy crop from the fields, a symbolic welcome to Goddess Lakshmi. Before harvesting, the members chanted slogans 'Poli Poli Deva'.

As part of the tradition, after the paddy sheaves are brought home, a unique pudding thambittu is prepared out of ripe banana, coconut, jaggery, sesame, cardamom, ghee and roasted boiled rice flour. Some grains of newly harvested paddy are used to prepare the dishes at home.

Office-bearers and Management Committee Members of Kodava Samaja, Mysuru; President Mechanda M. Shashi Ponnappa; Vice-President Malachira M. Ponnappa; Hon. Secretary Mukkatira B. Jeevan; Joint Secretary Appanderanda Tara Somaiah; Hon. Treasurer Machimada P. Nanaiah; former Presidents and a large number of community people, young and old, were present.

Grand Hanuma Jayanti celebrated at Hunsur

Hunsur, Dec. 8 (Hunsur Raghu &DM)- After a two-year gap due to COVID pandemic, Hanuma Jayanti was celebrated in a grand manner at Hunsur yesterday amid tight security.

As part of the celebration, a mega Shobha Yatre was taken out on the main thoroughfares of the town and the event passed off without any untoward incident.

The Shobha Yatre set off from Ranganatha Extension of the town at 11 am with Hunsur MLA H.P. Manjunath, Gavadagere Gurulingadevara Mutt Seer Sri Nataraja Swamiji, Hunsur CMC Commissioner Manasa and other dignitaries offering flower petals to the idol of Lord Hanuman.

The Yatre passed through Kalkunike, Old Bridge, Samvidhana Circle, Kote Circle, JLB Road, Lakshmi Vilas Circle, Bazar Road, Akshay Bhandar Circle, New Bus Stand and Kalpataru Circle before culminating at Sri Manjunathaswamy Temple at around 6.30 pm.

Thousands of devotees had gathered all along the Yatre route, amidst chanting of slogans hailing Lord Hanuman. The Yatre was accompanied by a host of folk and cultural troupes which lent more colour to the mega event.

Hanumotsava Acharana Samiti, the organisers of the event, had made arrangements for distribution of water, cool drinks, custard milk, etc. to devotees.

Members of the Muslim community too lent their helping hand by distributing cool drinks at some points of the route. This year, there was no scope for political involvement as the Samiti itself had taken full responsibility of organising the event. However, all the political parties had extended their total support for the grand event, in which thousands of devotees took part.

The Police provided tight security and heightened vigil to ensure that the event passes off smoothly without any trouble or untoward incident.

SP R. Chethan and other top Cops supervised the security.

Assistant Commissioner Ruchi Bindal, CMC President Geetha Ningaraj, Vice-President Asha Krishna Nayak, the Samiti President B.N. Das, MCDCC Bank President G.D. Harish Gowda, MP Pratap Simha's wife Arpita Simha, local leaders Nagana Gowda, Ganesh, Kumaraswamy, Aswal Kempegowda and others took part.

'Develop innovative foods that help reduce stress'

DRDO DG at national conference on 'Futuristic strategies for sustainment of troops in different terrains'

Dr. Upendra Kumar Singh, Director General (Life Sciences), DRDO, lighting the lamp to inaugurate the national conference on 'Futuristic strategies for sustainment of troops in different terrains' at Hotel Southern Star in city last evening as Dr. R. Umamaheswaran, Director of Human Space Flight Centre (HSFC), ISRO, Bengaluru, Commodore Manoj Sharma, Principal Director, C and V, Naval HQ, Dr. Anil Dutt Semwal, Director, DFRL and others look on.

Mysuru, Dec. 8 (MK&BCT)- A three-day national conference on 'Futuristic strategies for sustainment of troops in different terrains,' organised by Mysuru-based Defence Food Research Laboratory (DFRL), a Defence Research and Development Organisation (DRDO) laboratory, began at Hotel Southern Star in city last evening.

The conference is being organised to bring together researchers, tri-service (Army, Navy & Air Force) users, industry participants and academics on a common platform to debate the current challenges faced by all stakeholders and to develop concepts for technical solutions.

It intends to create a common forum where experiences, difficulties and future course of action and strategies will be discussed. Inaugurating the conference, Dr. Upendra Kumar Singh, Director General (Life Sciences), DRDO, told the DFRL scientists to ensure that quality, hot and energy-boosting food products must be supplied to Defence Forces.

Effective R&D for innovation

"It is important for the DFRL to redefine its roles and collaborate with the industry in Research and Development (R&D) as this is crucial to become 'Atmanirbhar' in all productions. Nearly 25 percent of the funding for R&D now given to the industry other than the labs with the focus on bringing in innovation," he said.

New markets have been created over the years and the DFRL now is fulfilling the orders placed by organisations like the Indian Space Research Organisation (ISRO). There is tremendous demand for DFRL products in the other markets too and the time has come to explore those avenues, Singh added.

"We must strive to provide food products as per the needs of the Defence services and they must be tailor-made to suit their requirements. Apart from being visually appealing, the food products must be tasty, hygienic and must, at the same time, be nutritious for the soldiers to withstand the hostile surroundings," the DRDO DG said.

Speciality foods

Complimenting the DFRL for coming to the rescue of people who are hit by natural disasters, Singh said that DFRL can now think beyond and come up with innovative foods that help reduce stress, developing foods with special ingredients. "The institution must partner with industry and academia to bring about the change in this competitive world. Make use of the grants provided by the Centre to innovate," he added.

Dr. R. Umamaheswaran, Director of Human Space Flight Centre (HSFC), ISRO, Bengaluru, too spoke about how DRDO could pursue innovation while it excelled in providing food products for all-terrain and all weather conditions. He recalled how DFRL was able to develop speciality foods for the astronauts.

Dr. Anil Dutt Semwal, Director, DFRL, outlined DFRL's contributions since its inception and the way forward. Commodore Manoj Sharma, Principal Director, C and V, Naval HQ, also spoke on the occasion. Dr. Samir V Kamat, Secretary, DDR&D (Department of Defence R&D) and Chairman, DRDO, Sanjeev Kumar and R. Kumar, Scientists, were present.

DFRL products on display, sale

On the occasion, new technologies developed by the DFRL were released by the dignitaries. An exhibition was organised to display the DFRL products including biodegradable cutlery, milk testing kit (Mark II), biscuits and snacks that can be kept for over a year, multilayer degradable food packaging materials and biodegradable films for packaging applications.

A DFRL statement said that the institution is involved in a research and development project to build a technology platform by utilising cutting-edge food processing technologies.

The conference will debate dietary needs of the soldiers, nutritional delivery, sustainable food packaging, hybrid technology for food processing, modern methods and strategies for evaluating the safety and quality of food. It will design food processing and packaging systems with artificial intelligence assistance and discuss the R&D for 3-D printing technology to create culinary products.

Potato paratha, moong dal halwa for Gaganyaan-1 astronauts

Mysuru-based Defence Research Development Organisation (DRDO) has developed a wide range of foods to be consumed by astronauts going to space in the Gaganyaan-1 Mission, India's much-awaited maiden manned space mission.

The institution has developed commonly consumed foods that will be relished by astronauts including vegetable biryani, potato paratha, vegetable pulao, moong dal halwa and dal khichdi.

In addition, a variety of ready-to-eat cuisines have been developed for the mission. The DFRL has been in touch with the astronauts identified for the mission as they will have to get acclimatised to foods they eat while being in space.

Gaganyaan-1 is likely to be scheduled in 2024 and the Indian Space Research Organisation (ISRO) has developed a spacecraft for the Mission.

A series of tests will be undertaken with the test vehicle already developed for a couple of unmanned missions before the manned mission takes off.

Missing items from ATI Guest House

When asked about the earlier three letters and the replies that were sent to the ATI, DC Dr. Rajendra said he was not aware of the earlier three letters sent to the Mysuru DC as he took charge in October this year.

Dr. Bagadi Gautham, who took over as the DC soon after the transfer of Rohini Sindhuri, told SOM that he was not aware of the three letters sent by the ATI regarding the 20 missing items from the ATI Guest House.

"I have no idea regarding this and I do not know if there is a file maintained on the issue. This has not come to my notice and I only read about the same in the media. It has already been two years and I do not know why the issue is being raked up now," he clarified.

'I would rather buy instead of taking them away': Sindhuri

Mysuru, Dec. 8 (RK&BCT)- Commenting on the fourth letter sent by the Administrative Training Institute (ATI) regarding the missing items, former Mysuru DC Rohini Sindhuri, who is presently the Commissioner for Hindu Religious and Charitable Endowments, Bengaluru, told Star of Mysore this morning that if she really wants furniture, she would rather buy them instead of taking them from a Guest House.

Rohini Sindhuri

"If I need that furniture, I will buy from the market where there is good quality rose wood furniture. I will not stoop to the low level of taking away the furniture, plastic and steel items, jugs, telephone stands and such silly items. As I said before, this is too trivial an issue and it is being blown out of proportion," she said.

When asked about the letters written by the ATI Joint Director, she said, "I am not aware of any letters and new DCs have come after I left Mysuru."

Sources from the ATI said that S. Poovitha is a full-time Joint Director (JD) ATI.

"Till now, officers would come here as JD only on an in-charge basis. She came here as the full-time JD six months back and sent the internal letter after discovering that over 20 items were missing from the Guest House," sources added.

Star of Mysore contacted the ATI Officer to seek her reaction on the four letters sent to the DCs and the replies but was told, "Madam is busy in a meeting."

Raising the issue further, Manju said that the contractor had not completed the mobile antenna works and was still undertaking works in the night. "First of all, there is a serious violation of heritage rules as most of the towers are coming up in the core heritage zone including K.R. Circle, Mysore Palace and Metropole Circle (Field Marshal K.M. Cariappa Circle). Secondly, how can a contractor take three years for the work that has to be completed in 180 days," he questioned.

The second issue was the election to the Standing Committees where Corporators trooped into the Well of the House and protested. They alleged that the polls were deliberately being postponed by parties who have vested interests. This too was denied by the Mayor and a war of words ensued between the Corporators.

JD(S) Corporator SBM Manju raising the issue of mobile towers at the MCC Council Meeting in city this morning.

Repeated requests from the Mayor for order and decorum in the House yielded no results and the meeting was adjourned by 15 minutes. As soon as the House reconvened, there was shouting again and the Mayor was seeking 15 days to begin the process of Standing Committee election. Later, the Council meeting was adjourned till 2.30 pm.

WORD OF THE DAY

Onomatopoeia

Pronunciation: ah-nuh-mah-tuh-PEE-uh.

Meaning: Onomatopoeia means "the creation or use of words that imitate sounds." It can also refer to the words themselves.

Origin: English speakers have only used the word onomatopoeia since the 1500s, but people have been creating words inspired by the sounds heard around them for much longer. It may not surprise you to learn that fizz, jingle, toot, and pop are onomatopoeic in origin, but did you know the same is true of bounce, tinker, and blimp? Boom! Now you do. In fact, the presence of so many imitative words in language spawned the linguistic bowwow theory, which postulates that language originated in the imitating of natural sounds. While it's highly unlikely that onomatopoeia is the sole impetus for human language, it certainly made a mark, which is nothing to sneeze at.

Example: "[John] Madden's influence, steeped in Everyman sensibilities and studded with wild gesticulations and paroxysms of onomatopoeia—wham! doink! whoosh!—made the N.F.L. more interesting, more relevant and more fun for over 40 years." — Ben Shpigel

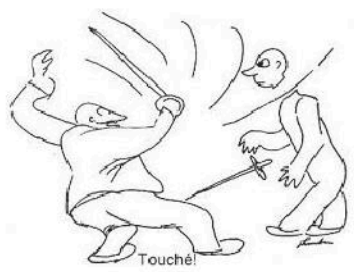
THE ODD WORD

Oblectation

Enjoyment; pleasure.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Off with his head



Meaning: Literal meaning. That is, 'chop off his head'. It is now usually used humorously as a means of mildly reproaching someone.

Origin: Shakespeare used the phrase many times in his plays and I can find no record of any earlier usage; for example, in Henry VI Part III, 1592: QUEEN MARGARET: Off with his head, and set it on York gates; So York may overlook the town of York. Lewis Carroll became the best-known user of the phrase when he included it in Alice's Adventures in Wonderland, (published 1865), The Queen of Hearts shrieks the phrase several times in the story - in fact she doesn't say a great deal else: The players all played at once without waiting for turns, quarrelling all the while, and fighting for the hedgehogs; and in a very short time the Queen was in a furious passion, and went stamping about, and shouting 'Off with his head!' or 'Off with her head!' about once in a minute.
